PRETESTING AND POSTTESTING

Read the brief description of each program below. Then indicate yes or no for both the pretest and the posttest to indicate whether you would pretest and posttest learners in the program.

1. A yearlong kindergarten reading program that teaches children to read about 100 new words by sight, as well as teaching phonics skills.
   Pretest?
   Posttest?

2. A program that teaches first-graders to tell time to the nearest five minutes.
   Pretest?
   Posttest?

3. A junior high-school nutritional program that teaches students what they need to eat to meet their daily nutritional requirements?
   Pretest?
   Posttest?

4. A program required of adult homemakers on public assistance. The program teaches them to select nutritious food, plan daily menus and figure costs (i.e. budget food) for their families.
   Pretest?
   Posttest?

5. A voluntary training workshop for engineers at Motorola that teaches them how to install the new interactive computer system for their workgroup.
   Pretest?
   Posttest?

6. A required training program to teach accountants how to use their new computerized accounting system to produce personal and corporate income-tax returns for clients.
   Pretest?
   Posttest?